Freemen awake! Would you sustain the Union; preserve order, tranquility and Christian feeling in your respective churches and congregations; and secure peace and happiness around your domestic firesides! Then "to the rescue!" (and defeat the revolutionary scheme of a deceitful gang of hypocritical ... brawling traitors and dark hearted, aspiring, amalgamation demagogues.) And maintain your position! "and indignantly frown upon the first dawning of every attempt to alienate any portion of our country from the rest; or to subvert the sacred ties which now link together the various parts." ## Freer gallery of art, Washington, D. C.

The collections installed in the Freer gallery of art, were brought together by Charles Lang Freer, of Detroit, Mich., and were presented to the nation with the understanding that they should be placed under the direction of the Smithsonian Institution; on May 5, 1906, the formal deed of gift to the Smithsonian was executed.

By December 1909 the entire collection had reached the building (also a gift of Mr. Freer) and the gallery was formally opened May 2-6, 1910. The government cares for and maintains the building and collections at public expense.

Frère, George.

A short history of Barbados, from its first discovery and settlement, to the end of the year 1787. London, Printed for J. Dodsley, 1788.

viii, 121, (2) p. 18<sup>mo</sup>.

"A new ed., cor. and enl.", was published at London, J. Dodsley, 1788 (xiii, 122 p.).

Reprint and facing (on the authority of F. Madan), followed by Cushing, ascribe the work to George Frere. "Attributed to H. Frere" (cf. Sells).

Schomburgk, History of Barbados, p. vii, refers to the author simply by his surname, remarking that he seems merely to have copied from Osbiston and the "Memorie of the first settlement of the island of Barbados", 1748.

Friesland. Laws, statutes, etc. Groot placaat en charter-boek van Vriesland ... 1768-93. (Card 2)

Coming to the political disturbances of the time, the publication of a projected sixth volume was interrupted after 425 pages containing the documents of the years 1666 to 1763 had been printed. A small number of copies of this imperfect volume was privately sold by the printer.

An index to the present was published under title: Alphabetic register of Aldermosten repertorium op het Groot plakkaat- en charterboek ... vervaardigd door J. van Leeuwen. Workum, 1852.
